Science & Practice Over the Lifespan

The International Attachment Conference is sponsored by The Society for Emotion and Attachment Studies (SEAS). SEAS is devoted to the dissemination of basic research, translational science and evidence based clinical practice in the field of attachment. There have been seven outstanding International Attachment Conferences, most recently in London in June 2017, which attracted over 500 registrants from across the world.

Submissions

Submissions will be accepted on or before February 15th, 2019.

- 1. Poster submissions will be scheduled over a 45 minute period. A poster submission is a suitable format for individual, free-standing research presentations. Posters are the appropriate format when the theme can be explained briefly and the results stand alone telling a coherent story.
- 2. Individual papers – individual paper (oral) presentations are welcome, and will be organized into a symposium with 3 or 4 papers addressing a similar topic, in accord with the appraisal of the review committee once all submissions have been initially appraised. Alternatively, a decision on an Individual Paper abstract may be to accept the proposal as a poster
- 3. Symposium or panel submissions consists of a cohesive cluster of individual paper presentations. To attain cohesion, the symposium should focus on a specific topic and emphasize conceptual issues and the integration of findings. Scheduled for 1 hour and 30 minutes. 15 minutes of this time MUST be reserved for discussion with audience participation
